WORDS WOMEN USE: A Survival Guide

- (1) FINE: This is the word women use to end an argument when they are right and you need to shut up.
- (2) FIVE MINUTES: If she is getting dressed, this means a half an hour. Five minutes is only five minutes if you have just been given five more minutes to watch the game before helping around the house.
- (3) NOTHING: This is the calm before the storm. This means something, and you should be on your toes. Arguments that begin with nothing usually end in fine.

IF IT'S CANDY YOU CRAVE...

BY: Susan Ferrier

Because of its alleged aphrodisiac qualities, chocolate has long been associated with love and passion. But, despite the legendary history, chocolate's ability to romantically arouse remains suspect.

That old fashioned, heart-shaped box is best left to the unimaginative—if you want to give your lover a sweet gift this Valentine's Day, the choices are as wide as your thighs might get if you eat all this stuff alone. A trip around town and on line brings a plethora of sweet options.

Scribe a love letter to your lover but forget the paper and pen, write it on his body using the Lover's Body Pen Set. The set includes a chocolate and strawberry pen. What you do with the prose after that is up to you. Perhaps you are more of an artist, let your lover's body become your canvas with Chocoholics' Body Frosting kit. The grouping includes Wild Cherry, Chocolate and Espresso Dream frosting plus a paintbrush for your creations. If you like playing games, Chocoholics makes both a Truth or Dare game and Strip Chocolate.

But chocolatiers aren't the only candy manufacturer

ers getting in on the fun. There are gummy handcuffs, strawberry flavored gummy thongs and bras.

For the more traditional, choose oversized Hershey's Kisses, Necco's Sweethearts, Peeps' Marshmallow Hearts, heart-shaped lollipops or red foil-wrapped chocolates. If M&M's are your thing, Mars Snack Food, the Hackettstown based manufacturers of those tiny treats launched a new advertising campaign promoting green as "the new color of love." Through Valentine's Day, you can purchase bags of all green M & M's. The campaign grew out of a long held urban legend that the "green ones" hold special powers to act as an aphrodisiac. According to a press release from the makers of M & Ms, by visiting <http://www.mms.com/>, "consumers and fans will be able to demonstrate their love for green and learn more about the lady behind the legend. The interactive site offers the opportunity to join the green M&M's community by sharing experiences with the candy, as well as offering advice on how people can get their lover's mojo motoring. Consumers can also send e-Valentine's to significant others or secret crushes.
